

FRANCE'S ANSWER OFFERS NO BASIS FOR NEW PROPOSAL

Communication Rejects The Proposals Of Germany
Point By Point.

BRITISH EXPECT
A BETTER OFFER

Rejection Based On Three Points, French Press
Points Out.

Paris, May 4.—France's reply to the reparations offer of 30 billion marks by Germany is a flat rejection and does not contain any counter proposals for a basis of future negotiations, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

According to newspapers with inside sources of information, the French communication rejects the German proposals point by point.

Lord Crewe, the British ambassador, called upon Premier Poincare and told him that, while England approves of France's rejection, the British must insist that France engage in general conversations on the reparations issue.

The British believe Germany may be led to make a better offer later on if France and Belgium will consent to negotiations now.

French foreign office officials were engaged today in putting the final touches upon the French reply.
The communications already have been communicated to Belgium. It is likely copies will be transmitted to the other allies tonight and that it will be forwarded to Berlin tomorrow.

Based On Three Points
"French rejection of the German offer is based upon three points," said "Pertinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris. "France and Belgium already had agreed upon these points. They are: First, there must be no radical modification of the reparations payments agreed upon May 5, 1921; second, occupation of the Ruhr by French and Belgian troops shall continue until all the indemnity is paid; third, Germans must cease their passive resistance in the Ruhr."

Philippe Millet, one of the best known political writers in France, said the French and Belgians would agree to cancellation of 80,000,000,000 gold marks of a total of 132,000,000,000 gold marks worth of this series of bonds agreed upon May 5, 1921, only on condition inter-allied war debts are cancelled.

"It is now up to Germany to obtain an agreement from the United States such as she already has with England to get out of the vicious circles of debts and reparations," wrote Millet.
The general opinion here is that there will be no negotiations unless Germany makes another offer meeting French and Belgian conditions.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS TO SUBMIT PLANS

A large attendance is expected at the monthly meeting of the Salem Chamber of Commerce at 8 p. m. Friday. The board of directors will present a plan which, it is believed, will allow the organization to continue to function on its present basis.

Proposals to curtail the activities of the Chamber of Commerce did not meet with the approval of those present at the April meeting, but in order to continue under the present budget, it is essential that the organization receive more hearty support from the community at large.

Free Man Implicated In Theft Of Tires

Lee Seckman of East Liverpool, was allowed to leave the county jail on condition that he remain where the officers can find him. He was implicated in the theft of the tires from Salem parties last fall and has spent some time in jail. It was found on investigation that he was merely a helper in the theft and for that reason he was allowed to be at liberty until wanted.

"Hello Mamma" Is Greeting That Marks Happy Re- union Today.

Watertown, N. Y., May 4.—"Hello mamma."

"Hello Verner."
This common place exchange of greetings, reminiscent of O. Henry and his commentary on what folks say in times of stress, marked the reunion today of Verner Alexanderson, kidnaped son of the noted Schenectady radio engineer and his mother, who rushed to this city by private car to claim the child who had been stolen from her three days ago.

The reunion—made doubly strange by the self-assurance of the stolen child—took place at the Jefferson county jail, where the boy, rescued from a riverside cottage at Theresa, where he had been held captive, had spent the night.

"Hello Mamma" is Greeting Self-possessed, smiling, he extended his arms to Mrs. Alexanderson when she walked hastily into the jail.
"Hello mamma," he cried.

Mrs. Alexanderson apparently took her cue from the boy.
"Hello Verner," she answered, grasping the lad in her arms.

The youth then similarly greeted his father and gazed wide-eyed at the throngs of newspaper men and photographers.

A second later, with his hand in that of his mother, he walked through the jail offices and entered the living apartments of Sheriff Gillette. When his mother had been seated, Verner climbed into her lap and promptly began to cry.

He then turned in his mother's arms and demanded to know if she had seen his picture in the papers.

Shutting from her lap, he found one of his two most prized possessions—a bundle of papers that bore his likeness.

"See, mamma," proudly commanded.
Mrs. Alexanderson was duly impressed.

Proud of Pup
Then "Dodo" introduced his second jewel—a mongrel pup, answering to the name of Jack, the dog had been substituted for the bunnies that the kidnapers had used as bait to lure the boy into their machine.

"He's mine. And I'm going to keep him forever," confided Verner.

In the meanwhile police are searching for two men believed to be the kidnapers.

Three women are under arrest as accomplice witnesses and detectives are following clues furnished by them to apprehend the principals.

While the detectives from every city in the state were on the chase it remained for Edward Jarvis, a Theresa boat livyman, to find the boy. As the chase turned to the north country, Jarvis linked the crime with the fact that early in April he had rented a cottage to two strangers. They took possession last Tuesday. With them came an elderly woman and a boy.

Yesterday, under the pretense of repairing a window shutter, Jarvis went to the cottage and secured a good look at the boy. He identified the lad from a newspaper picture and then telephoned the sheriff's office at Watertown.

The boy was playing on the floor with a dog when Deputy Fred B.
Jackson arrived and, questioned by the officer, began to cry. He finally spelled out his name between sobs, and the three-day search for the kidnaped child ended.

Police Escort Gypsy Band To City Limits

Six carloads of gypsies were escorted to the western limits of the city late Thursday afternoon and told to "be on their way" by members of the Salem police department.
Traveling in large touring cars, the gypsy band stopped in Salem but a few minutes when the police were notified of their visit. Orders were immediately issued by Mayor John W. Post that the band was to be escorted from the city.

Red Cross Issues Second Appeal For Summer Clothing

While some response was the Home Service section of made to the appeal made by Salem chapter, American Red Cross, last week for summer clothes for children, it was not nearly enough to meet the calls the section has for these clothes.

Summer clothes for children of all ages are needed and summer clothes for women and women's shoes in the larger sizes can be used.

In this way the section is aiding worthy families of laborers where the father does not earn enough to supply the needs.

"CHEAPER SUGAR" PARADE IS STAGED BY 25,000 WOMEN

The Buy Less And Eat Less Activities Are Breaking New York Prices.

New York, May 4.—Twenty-five thousand women and children were to parade to the city hall here this afternoon and demand lower sugar prices.
The "buy less" and "eat less" activities of the New York city housewives sugar committee have broken sugar prices about one cent retail, but the women say that is not enough.

Sugar prices took another drop today, the Cuban raw sugar falling to 5 1/2 cents a pound. The Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company announced a reduction of 75 points to 9.60 cents a pound and the National Sugar Refining company announced a reduction of 25 points at 9.90 cents per pound.

Columbus, May 4.—Paul Barnes, head of the state bureau of foods and markets, is to address Columbus housewives here this afternoon in a public meeting to be held as a protest against the prevailing high prices of sugar.

followed, Mr. Fletcher was elected

INTEREST IN FLIGHTS ACROSS OCEAN REVIVED

President Of Aerial League Says Army Achievements Will Revive Interest In Flights Of Greater Hazard.

BY HENRY WOODHOUSE
President Of Aerial League of America.

New York, May 4.—The achievement of Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly in the T-2 was needed to revive interest in non-stop flying.
Their wonderful feat will quicken the spirit of daring that is needed for trans-Atlantic flights.

The distance they covered, 2,600 miles, is far more than enough needed to span the Atlantic. The route of Alcock and Brown, from Newfoundland to Ireland, was only 1,860 miles.

From Newfoundland to the Azores is 1,375 miles and the remaining ap to Portugal adds 1,995 miles, a total of 2,468 miles. There are a dozen possible routes of easy distances that may tempt fliers of many nations now that the T-2 has shown the possibilities of the single-motor plane and human courage and endurance.

South America to the Barbadoes to the Canaries is another route.
Cape Orange to Cape Verde to the African coast is another. Newfoundland to Greenland and Iceland and thence to England by the Faroe islands can be made easily.

IMPLICATE ROOM MATE IN MURDER

Officials Hunting College Students For Hazing
Death Probe.

Chicago, May 4.—Following an all-night questioning of a score of Northwestern university students in the inquiry into the death of Layton Mount, freshman who disappeared during the class rush in September, 1921, and whose body was found Monday under a pier at Evanston, the state's attorney's office today is seeking Allen Mills, a former student now reported to be in a California prison.

A veiled accusation against Mills by William McElwain, his former roommate, was the most tangible clue that developed. McElwain declared that Mills returned to his room dripping wet on the night of the class fight and seemed worried.

Officials are also seeking Arthur Persinger, another student victim of the class rush, who was reported to have been found in a precarious position to a lake pier and hope to obtain valuable testimony from him.

HARDING TO GET ENVOYS' REPORT

Washington, May 4.—Before leaving Washington for his trip to the Pacific coast this month, President Harding plans to get first hand information concerning world problems from four of his most important diplomatic representatives abroad, it was learned here today.

American ambassadors are coming home from London, Berlin, Brussels and Madrid to tell the president about economic and political conditions overseas and to advise him of developments in Europe during the past two years.

Col. George Harvey, ambassador to Great Britain, and Allen B. Houghton, ambassador to Germany, have been granted leaves of absence on-tensively to attend to personal business in the United States but they will come to the capital for conferences with the president, Secretary of State Hughes and other government officials.

Scouts To Complete Blasting Of Stumps

Fair weather Saturday should see the last of the unsightly stumps in Centennial park blown forever out of the scenery as Service Director John Bristol and Scoutmaster Parker, Lowell, who have been supervising the Boy Scouts in their work of dynam-iting these stumps, believe that the remaining stumps can be removed Saturday afternoon.

Scouts have been requested to report at the Park st entrance at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Expenses incurred in blasting out the stumps have been borne by the Civic Improvement committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

3000 Klansmen Plan Parade In Columbus

Columbus, May 4.—Plans for a parade of 3,000 hooded and robed members of the Ku Klux Klan here tonight have been announced by Frank B. Moore, grand past imperial klan, who has arrived in Columbus to take charge of the demonstration and initiation ceremony.

Klan officials said that no word had been received from Harry D.
Saunders, secretary of the Columbus Driving Park association, who would not permit the park to be used for a Ku Klux Klan meeting. The Klan's plans include using the driv-

VICTORIOUS ARMY FLIERS WILL SEEK NEW WORLD MARK

Congratulations From All Farts Of World Are Being Received.

SPAN THE COUNTRY
IN ONLY 27 HOURS

Army Fliers Given Great Ovation As They Land
In San Diego.

San Diego, Cal., May 4.—While the laurels of victory are still green, the United States army aviators, Lieutenants G. Kelly and John A. Mac-Ready, will seek still another world record. This time, it was revealed today, their goal will be a sustained flight of 48 hours and it will be accomplished shortly at Dayton, O.

Telegrams and even cablegrams from France, Italy and Sweden continued to pour in on the aviators today, congratulating them on their world's record flight when yesterday they landed at Rockwell Field, Cal., after a 27 hour non stop flight from Hempstead, N. Y.

The official time made by the giant T-2 monoplane was 26 hours, 50 minutes and 30 seconds, the distance approximately 2,600 miles.

The day of triumph for the two aviators was to have culminated last night at a dinner at which several hundred American Legion men, prominent citizens of San Diego and U. S. army and navy officers were gathered. The guests were present.
Lieut. Kelly showed up half an hour late, and as embarrassed as a school boy with his first long trousers.

Lieut. MacReady did not show up at all and it was whispered about the tables that shyness got the better of him shortly before the banquet and that he had started for Los Angeles in an automobile. So Kelly became the hero of the evening all by himself.

Sweetheart Is Present
There were no women present at the banquet, but when the fliers lunched with Major H. H. Arnold a few minutes before completing their transcontinental flight, Miss Mary Watson was present. She admitted today that she and Lieut. Kelly had been sweethearts for ten years, but she would not admit how long, she had been wearing the platinum ring, set with diamonds, which friends say, she only recently appeared with.
At the luncheon a few favored guests had their coffee from a vacuum container. It had been filled the previous day at a lunch room in New York. A New York newspaper printed the day previously also was passed about the table.

An official report on the conditions of the fliers was handed today to Major Arnold. Signed by Dr. L.
M. Fields it set forth the fliers had suffered none physically from their long voyage.

The stethoscope showed a somewhat accelerated action of the heart, the report asserted. "But this was no doubt due to the excitement incidental to landing. Both men otherwise were in perfect condition."

A movement to preserve the giant plane in which the two intrepid aviators made their epochal flight was started today by members of the American Legion when it was reported that the ship had made its last flight and would be scrapped.
The legion will request the war department to donate the plane to the war exhibit at Balboa park, San Diego.

Y. & S. TO OPERATE FLEET OF BUSES

Brought To This City
Friday Morning.

The first of a fleet of modern automobile busses to be operated by the Youngstown and Suburban Transportation company from Youngstown to Salem and Canton, was brought to Salem Friday morning.

The new busses are of the most modern type being used today. They have a capacity of 16 passengers, and are equipped with wicker chairs.
Reservations will be sold for the trips between the various cities, the buses to be operated on the Pullman chair car plan.

The bus, which was brought here for an inspection by city officials and representatives of civic organizations, is one of five to be used in this district. It is planned to later route the cars to Lisbon and East Liverpool. First of the trips will be made Saturday morning.

Will Renew Liquor Permit To Druggists

Washington, May 3.—Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair slashed some red tape today by ordering the prohibition unit to renew liquor permits of all retail druggists unless there is evidence that the druggists have diverted intoxicants to illegal uses.
Thousands of renewals have been held up while the records of all druggists were being investigated. But new permits will now be issued without delay.

A Call To Business Men

THE president of the National Association of Manufacturers has called a conference of the membership "for consideration of a sane course in industry." This is not at all a panicky suggestion. It is a summons to maintain the tide of prosperity that has set in so auspiciously and to set at naught the forecasts of so-called economic experts that after a certain length of time—no two of them agreeing as to its probable length—there will come a period of business depression. These experts argue on the basis of what has been will be repeated. Among seriousminded business men these questions have arisen: Why should depression come? Why cannot this period of prosperity be continued? And they have made up their minds that prosperity can be continued if sane methods are pursued.
It is to talk over the situation and to discuss methods that this conference will be held in New York city this month. It should be attended largely and the discussions should have the best light that business experience and business judgment can furnish.
President Edgerton does not think we have reached abnormal conditions or that the situation is at all dangerous. It is because the predictions of "economic experts" have begun to fill some minds with doubt and fear that it has been thought best to get together and outline a safe forward policy. He says:
"I believe we have about reached a normal basis and are moving on a plane 10 years advanced from our pre-war condition. We must encourage production in every way, but we also must encourage consumption by keeping prices within reason and within the bounds of every average person." Which means that the country has reached a point in industrial activity entirely within reason and which can be maintained if a firm hand is kept on the business rudder. This should be the aim of each employer and he should have the co-operation of each employee. Team work will hold the ship of prosperity to its course and the prophets of depression will predict in vain.

Seizure Of Foreign
Lines Not Planned

Washington, May 4.—Seizure of big foreign liners for carrying liquor into American ports in violation of the Volstead act is not contemplated by the government in preparing to enforce the supreme court's new three-mile decision. It is announced officially at the treasury department.

Vessels will not even be searched, officials said, unless flagrant violations are suspected, but if liquor is found it will be confiscated by probi-tion and customs officers.
PUBLIC SCHOOL IN AMERICA
Beginning of Institution Can Clearly Be Traced to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Early attempts to provide elementary education were made in Virginia, and by the Dutch in New York, but Massachusetts must be looked to for the beginning of the American public school.
In 1635 a town meeting of the people of Boston requested Phillimon Pur-mont to become schoolmaster, and voiced him 30 acres of land in part pay for his services. The school begun by Mr. Purmont later became the Boston Latin school, and has had a continuous existence. Other colonies followed in Boston's steps, and the next ten years saw common schools established in all the New England settlements. In 1647 the general court of Massachusetts ordered every town of 50 families to select a teacher, whose salary was to be paid by the parents of the children he taught or by the inhabitants in general. At the same time townships having one hundred families were ordered to establish a grammar school to fit youth for college. The law establishing these two grades of schools laid the foundation of the American public school system.

New York—As a means of punishing speeders the court has ruled that all offenders must report at police headquarters each Sunday and that they are not allowed to joy ride on Sunday for an indefinite length of time.

Contractor Says Help Arrived Just In Time

Willoughby Citizen Declares He Was On Verge Of Complete Breakdown When Tanlac Restored Him—Stomach Trouble And Weakness Ended.

"If I had ever doubted the merits of Tanlac I couldn't do it now, for it is the lever that lifted me back to good health," is the characteristic statement made recently by Wm. K. Rossiter, well-known contractor and builder residing at Willoughby, Ohio, near Cleveland.

"Sometime ago I fell between the joists of a building and was so nearly put out of commission I couldn't work.

My back and legs pained me something awful, dizziness and headaches put my head in a whirl. My appetite went to almost nothing and I had a terrible time with indigestion. That fall just seemed to shake all the energy out of me.

"I believe I got Tanlac just in time to save me from a nervous collapse. The treatment did everything I could ask. It sharpened my appetite, put my stomach in good condition, restored my strength, and I am on the job every day feeling fine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

Lisbon Notes

Settle Damage Claim

A claim growing out of the death of George Haroff, aged three, who was killed Oct. 5, 1922, in an automobile accident on North Market st., Lisbon, was settled yesterday afternoon. In order to obtain a legal settlement, Judge Riddle appointed the late father, William Haroff, as his administrator and authorized him to accept a payment of $600 from the Haroff-Aetna insurance company and the costs. J. J. Bennett of Lisbon, whose car struck the machine in which the child was riding, carried a policy in this company and the claim was paid under its provisions. This is the first time such a settlement has been made in the probate court here.

Two Autos Crash

Mistaking signals, drivers of two roadsters, both of Youngstown, had a head-on collision at Long's crossing yesterday afternoon. Both cars were badly damaged and were brought here for repairs. The drivers escaped with minor bruises and cuts.

Lewis, Home, Refuses To Discuss Results

New York, May 4—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, returned today silent on the results of his conferences with mine workers in England, Belgium and France.

"Did you negotiate with coal miners' unions abroad for an agreement not to mine coal for export to the United States in the event of a strike here?" he was asked.

"I cannot discuss the matter," he replied.

Lewis refused also to comment on the possibilities of a strike of the anthracite fields when the agreement expires Aug. 1.

Neptunite Varnishes

Don't be Fooled by a Varnish Shine

The poorer the varnish, generally the more it shines, and the less it wears. The better the varnish, the richer is its deep satin like glossiness, and the longer it wears. Don't buy a varnish by its shine. Buy it by its power to stand wear and still keep glossy. For everything from floors up, use Neptunite Varnishes. You get wear out of them because wear is put into them. Won't turn white. Dry hard and stay hard.

The Form of Fashion Is Corseted

Today's woman is corseted with such skill that she is seemingly uncorseted. The artless grace that each woman hopes to achieve is the result of the corsetiere's skill. Much elastic, soft adjustable materials, scientific modeling—these are Fashion's aids in achieving for the natural figure the perfection of natural grace and symmetry.

Corsets are Fitted This Season
Here's a practical corset of brocade and elastic, then a lovely brocade corset designed and fashioned by a master corsetiere, or a wisp of girdle for slim youth. But each is only a corset or a girdle until fitted to the individual figure to which it is best suited.
There is no corset problem for women who select corsets here.
Model after model from which to choose and our expert fitting service at the command of every woman.
New Corsets for a new season are here—girdles, corsets, etc.—and for larger women there are corsets designed to meet every problem.

These are the Corsets Here to Choose From Gossard, Front-Lace, Stylish Stout and Youthline, Warner's Rust Proof, American Lady, Raydio Elastic Girdles, Treco Girdles. Priced from $1.00 to $20.00.

AS A MAN SOWETH

By ADA BORDEN STEVENS

"DO TAKE up the baby, Clay! I know you hate to, but he cries so I can't go on with the cooking. Supper will be ready in a minute." Katherine turned an anxious, flushed face from the toast she was buttering. It was just the kind Clayton Alden liked best.

All the boys envied Clayton when he married Kay. She had been a bright girl in college, and a favorite at all the dances. Clayton went off triumphantly with the rare prize. For five successive years he had come back nightly to her to rest after a struggling day in town; years in which he took her sacrifices for his business interests as a matter of course. She would have helped him with his problems if he had allowed.

She loved her home and his protection. She delighted in making the best of what he had, and supplementing it with hand craft. She glided in the two little Aldens that had come to them. Baby Kenwood was the one directly on her mind at present. Junior was happy with a tiny hammer and an old box in the corner of the kitchen.

Clayton admitted the fascination of his little family, but, frankly, he considered that a woman's work was the care of her own house and children. Whatever Puritan outcroppings this was, it grew with exercise. The children were too young to interest him much; at this age they seemed alien. Katherine managed beautifully. He left them to her, and expected her to leave his cares to him. Long pre-occupied silences entered his routine. Out of them he would come volubly to hustle them all into the motor he felt it necessary to own, and go on some grand picnic. Katherine tired, uneasy, had ceased asking, but secretly planned some new economy to pay for these indulgences.

Reluctantly, he picked his young son up and held him awkwardly. Kay certainly tended to spoil the kids as they grew older. However, that was her affair, only he did not wish to be too frequently a victim. If her days were monotonous, he did not realize it, feeling gratefully the restfulness of home. Once a week a kindly neighbor stayed with the children, releasing her to companion him socially. He did not know the extra work this meant—the planning for time and clothes. He came to take these days for granted, too.

Supper over, Kay went to put the babies to bed, a heavy child on each arm. Going to look for her after an unusual silence, Clay found her lying white, unconscious, across the bed.

"Kay, dear! Katherine! What on earth's the matter? Come, get undressed, and into bed." He felt injured that she paid no attention to him. She did not rouse. Alarmed at last, he telephoned for Doctor Ross.

An hour passed before she opened her eyes, took the dose and fell off to sleep. Clay left her grudgingly as the doctor beckoned him. Once in the sitting room the doctor's benign look dropped from him. He turned sternly to the young man.

"Don't you know that you are killing your wife?" he cried. "A woman's work, hey? Well, so it is; but the children are yours, aren't they? You can't afford to hire much help, can you? Mrs. Alden never complains, does she? No, I know blamed well she doesn't. Now she came to me a week ago and I told her to be careful. Have you helped her to be careful? Have you? She's in for a good long rest at last!"

Clayton felt crushed. To lose Katherine—! But Doctor Ross went on, "Oh, she'll get well—if you take care of her. Woman's work! Man's work! Bah! Get together, Alden. Katherine's got a better head than you; talk your business over with her; it will be the better for it. She needs your problems, you need hers. If you don't work together, in ten years you'll wake up to find you are stranded on different shores." The physician turned calmly, "Send her to her mother tomorrow."

Clayton was no fool, but his head swam with new ideas, driven in by no soft, gloved hand such as Kay had tried to use. "I say, doctor," Clayton's mind ran ahead to the anxious nights that would be his if he hadn't the daily sight of Kay's sweet face and reassuring smile; the silent house without the little ones—"couldn't her mother come here?"

The doctor wheeled to look at him. Clay stammered an answer to the unspoken question:

"I—could—help with the children—nights—"

The benign smile came back as Doctor Ross replied heartily. "By all means. I'll see her in the morning."

The little neighbor sat with the sleeping Katherine while Clayton speeded into the country, where Kay's mother innocently felt so remote from the tiny apartment in town. When Katherine woke again it was to feel the familiar, competent presence of the woman who had taught her home-craft. She put out her hand gratefully, but with the other hand she drew Clayton's anxious face to hers, for she was too wise not to know by what a soul-searching process this miracle had been performed.

Different Reasons.

At several weddings recently it has been noticed that thin-clad brides have shivered with cold. It is not the cold, however, that makes the bridegroom shiver.—London Opinion.

Another Old Fashioned Idea Gone to the Junk Heap

If you have sore, aching, inflamed feet—this story will make you happy.

There are twenty-six small bones in the human foot. Covered with a delicate and sensitive membrane and connected with dozens of small easily strained ligaments.

It is now a well established fact that in the many much used joints of the feet nearly all foot soreness and inflammation starts.

All of these years and years, we have been treating foot ailments as if they were only skin deep.

Powdering the feet and bathing them in medicated water and doing other equally foolish things.

Might just as well drink a glass of ginger ale or eat a piece of custard pie for all the lasting good such treatment ever did the feet.

Now we know that the only way to get rid of foot agony, inflammation and soreness is to use a remedy that is made especially for joint troubles and goes right straight to the joints—right where the trouble lies.

Such a remedy there is and millions know about it—they know that when you rub Joint-Ease over any joint for just one minute that it soaks right through the skin and flesh and goes direct straight to the joint and ligaments—quick.

And if you rub this wonderful stainless emollient on your sore, tired, inflamed and aching feet tonight, you'll see it quickly disappear on its errand of helpfulness—right in to where the trouble is.

And if your feet are very sore—so inflamed that you cannot walk without agony, rub it on two or three times between supper and bedtime—your feet will be much better—perhaps all better in the morning.

Try this new and sensible way to get rid of all foot agony. Get a tube of Joint-Ease today. It costs but 60 cents and bears in mind—when Joint-Ease gets in foot soreness gets right out!

Kuppenheimer—a word of assurance

Before a mirror, one suit may look like another. It is only months after a suit is bought and paid for that it shows its mettle. If a person is a tailoring expert he can, of course, tell the minute he looks at a model whether it will keep the faith. The average man, however, must buy on reputation. When the word "Griffon" is on the label, that's all the guarantee he requires.

SOME DISHONESTY MAY BE UNCOVERED

GENERAL O'RYAN, COUNSEL FOR COMMITTEE ON VETERANS' BUREAU, SO THINKS.

PROBABLY IN BUYING SITES

Suspicion Directed Only to Past Operations of the Bureau—Director Hines Says Pull Won't Expedite Consideration of Cases.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan of New York, officer in the reserve corps of the army and commander of a division overseas, and who today is counsel of the senate committee charged with the work of investigating the affairs of the veterans' bureau, has declared there are evidences warranting the prediction that disclosures will show that in the bureau there has been "dishonesty on a pretty big scale here and there."

This word of the attorney of the investigating committee has reference only to past operations in the bureau, which now is under the authority of the new director, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines. The senate investigating committee has just begun its work. It is composed of these members: Senators Reed, Pennsylvania, and Oddie, Nevada, who are Republicans, and Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, who is a Democrat.

Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 of war veterans throughout the United States will watch the progress of the investigation with high interest. Thus far since the change in the management of the bureau there have been few complaints of delay or of injustices in the apportionment of compensation. One never can tell, however, when an epidemic of complaints will break out. Many complaints, it is known, are based on no reason, but when one complaint is entered and publicity is given to it some way or another other complaints come piling in. The complaint business seems to be contagious.

Where They May Find Irregularities.

It can be said in a general way that no one expects that high officials of the bureau under the old regime will be found to have profited by actual dishonest practices. The feeling seems to be that graft or dishonesty, if any is found, will be shown to have occurred in rather hidden corners of the service, but it is on the hidden corners which it is the business of the investigating committee to turn the light. It is believed in Washington that irregularities, or at any rate carelessness in the expenditure of funds, if there was any such, will be found to be connected with the operations of selecting and buying hospital sites, and in the erection of buildings for the use of ex-service men.

Washington is a sort of focal point for the attention of the veterans all over the United States. They watch the main office of the bureau apparently more keenly than they do the branch offices in various parts of the country. It is expected that the investigating committee virtually will be swamped with complaints concerning individual cases. It is not believed the committee can give attention to the hundreds of personal grievances which will be presented. The work of the committee is to discover where the trouble was, to punish the trouble makers, if possible, and to see that nothing of the kind at all occur again.

It is believed in Washington, and it is unquestionably the hope of the veteran body, that the committee will turn up to the light all the cases of men given employment in the veterans' bureau who have obtained their jobs not because they were competent to do the work, but because they had the backing of the politicians.

"Influence" to Be Disregarded.

The most recent public expression of service intention on the part of the new director was the bold utterance a few days ago that under his rule any man whose case was recommended for investigation by a congressman or any other official of government would be given no more consideration than the man whose case was presented by himself without any influence back of him. It is known definitely that some men prior to this time have had their cases pushed ahead of the cases of other men equally deserving simply because some man of influence in the country asked prior consideration for his favorite.

It is only fair to the bureau's authorities and other men and women charged with the work of caring for disabled veterans in different parts of the country, to say that the public should not take one case of abuse as representing a general condition. It is the invariable rule of some of the Legion men whose attention constantly is directed to supposed cases of injustice, to investigate carefully but quickly, in order to find out whether the complaint is justifiable before taking action.

There are cases of imagined grievances and occasionally the imaginative one succeeds in getting publicity for his supposed wrongs, and in stantly the public jumps to the conclusion that the case is a righteous one and that all the veterans are suffering likewise.

PERCHES SAVE BIRDS' LIVES

Simple Idea Which Has Resulted in the Preservation of Thousands of Migrating Songsters.

Bird lovers in Great Britain will soon be watching for the return of the first migrants and those especially who live near the sea will remember the kindly thought of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds in its work of providing resting places and perches on the lighthouses, without which great numbers flutter round and round the dazzling light until they fall.

It was thought at one time that the birds attracted by the light dashed against the glass, but the Dutch naturalist, Mr. Thijssen, discovered that they merely flew round and round the incomprehensible gleam, and he devised the plan of putting up a screen of perches above and below the light to which they might cling and rest before resuming their journey by daylight. The experiment was first tried at the great Terschelling light, where the destruction was reduced from a thousand in a night to a hundred in a season.

The Bird Protection society has now set up these perches on four English lighthouses: The Caskets, St. Catherine's, Spurn Head lighthouse and the South Bishop lighthouse. Each equipment costs £100 and £20 a year upkeep. The society hopes, as funds allow, to extend the plan to other lighthouses, where many thousands of birds are still falling every migration season.—Christian Science Monitor.

ADDING TO WAR'S CASUALTIES

Buried Shells Continue to Do Deadly Work in France—Tragedy in Parisian Hotel.

Shells buried in northern France during the war continue to explode occasionally when struck by peasants' plows, adding to the war casualties four years after the cessation of hostilities. The question is often asked whether an unexploded shell ever becomes harmless. Some experts say never, unless exposed to the air, while others contend that live shells become "duds" after many years.

The theory of the latter group is hardly borne out by an incident which recently occurred in a Paris hotel. A projectile of the time of Napoleon III had long been used by the hotel employees as a pestle, and had several times been fitted with new handles to replace those pounded off. Recently it was left in close proximity to the hotel furnace, with the result that the hotel engineer has gone into the class of casualties of the war of 1870, and the hotel is undergoing important repairs.

Irrigation in Egypt.

Important new irrigation work is about to be undertaken by the Egyptian government on the Blue Nile. The construction of a reservoir at Djebel Aoula will add Egypt in cultivating almost any quantity of rice, will abolish the rotations concerning cotton; will supply the water necessary for irrigation by ditches, and will improve the uncultivated areas.

Experts in the Egyptian irrigation service believe the reservoir will prevent the inundation of a large area of land in southern Sudan, and save to the Egyptian government large sums which it has been paying as compensation for damage done in areas.

The cost of the new undertaking will be about $15,000,000.

Preserving Old Relics.

Paraffin wax mixed in benzine is used in preserving many of the relics found in Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb. The surface of the relics is also sprayed with a diluted solution of celluloid dissolved in a mixture of amylacetate and acetone. Other relics are coated with a heavy coat of paraffin wax, which may be removed by heat. The leather goods found to be black, brittle and resinous-like, breaking into small fragments when touched.

Airplane Saved Marooned Party.

Far up in the mountains at the head of American Fork canyon, Utah, two men and a woman were marooned and starving in a mine cabin. Heavy snows had cut off the two miners and the woman from civilization. An air mail service plane was sent to the rescue. The pilot circled the cabin and dropped a package of supplies sufficient to maintain the party until they could get out to civilization.

Dressed for the Occasion.

Ten thousand Chinese soldiers guarding Tachienlu, the pass to Tibet, are having their clothes sewed on their bodies. Garment after garment of heavily padded cotton is sewed into place on the body to remain undisturbed until the suns of summer return. The pass is the coldest place on the border.

Rich Silica Deposits.

Czecho-Slovakia possesses a deposit of silica mineral of volcanic origin which can be used directly in the manufacture of glass without adding any of the common ingredients used in making up the glass batch. This mineral resembles lava and the deposits are very large.

"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "I was afraid it would give me classical ideas that would spoil my form for the gatherings I addressed at the post office and general store."

TAX LAWS FACE REFERENDUM

Ohio Real Estate Men to Consider the Proposition.

TO MEET AT COLUMBUS SOON

State Auditor Advised to Refrain From Paying Claims of Coal Dealers, as Authorized by the Sundry Appropriations Act—Baxter Sees Successful Year For Buckeye Fishermen—Plaint of Coal Producers.

Columbus, May 4.—The executive committee of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards will meet in this city in the near future to decide whether there will be a referendum on the taxation measures enacted by the general assembly. President John E. McCrehen of the association is of the opinion that the executive committee will hold its meeting the week of May 21. By vetoing the Taft bill, which is the main measure of the tax program of the last legislature, Governor Donahay has put himself in the position of opposing alleged increases in the tax rate, his advisers assert. By repealing the bill over the veto the Republican general assembly must face the charge, just or otherwise, according to the opinion of the individual citizen, of making possible tax rate increases by upsetting the Smith 1 per cent law.

Auditor of State Tracy is in receipt of a communication from W. S. Pealer, Randolph Walton and M. E. Thrallkill, attorneys of this city, protesting against paying any claims authorized by the sundry appropriations bill enacted by the assembly. The bill makes appropriations for sundry claims including amounts which the state contracted to pay Columbus and Cleveland coal companies during the Davis administration. An injunction obtained by the attorneys referred to stopped payment of the coal bills, but the legislature made provision for the settlement of these claims, with interest, in the sundry claims measure. Governor Donahay eliminated the items, but the assembly restored them last Saturday.

The letter to the state auditor advises him to refrain from paying the claims under penalty of subjecting his bondsmen to civil liability for the amount thereof. "The action of the general assembly was unconstitutional, an unlawful encroachment upon the province of the courts and an impertinent interference with their jurisdiction," the letter avers. "It is suggested, therefore, that you secure legal advice in the premises, or at least place the burden upon the claimants of compelling payment, or attempting such, by mandamus."

According to A. C. Baxter, chief of the state division of fish and game, the coming fishing season promises to be one of the most successful in years for the hundreds of thousands of Ohio fishermen. Although the bass season is closed from May 1 to June 16 to allow these sporting fish to spawn, there are plenty of other kinds that may be taken during these weeks, Baxter says. There are the blue-gills, crappies, catfish—all of which give some sport in the catching. Black bass and other game fish may only be taken during the open season by angling. This method is defined legally as "by line or rod in hand with not more than three baited hooks or with lure not more than three sets of three hooks each."

Extra precaution is being taken by fish wardens throughout the state to prevent under-sized fish from being destroyed by fishermen. Legal minimum size limits are for bass, 11 inches; strawberry bass and crappies, six inches; rock bass and blue-gills, five inches. Catch limits are 40 strawberry bass and crappies, and 25 rock bass or blue-gills in one day.

Appointment of John A. Bliss, Columbus, as special investigator of the finance department, with special reference to examination of proposed contracts submitted to the department, was announced by Governor Donahay. For many years Mr. Bliss was head of the state bureau of accounting. He is a Republican, but the appointment is due to the close personal friendship between him and the governor, dating back to the time when the latter was in the thick of his activities as auditor of state.

Mr. Bliss will be a personal representative of the governor and will be paid from the chief executive's contingent fund, authority for which is found in the reorganization code. He will be clothed with blanket authority and may go into any department of the state government and requisition all books and records. For some time Mr. Bliss has been doing special investigating work for State Auditor Tracy, particularly in the matter of the fair grounds fire in which buildings and surplus war materials were destroyed.

The proposed $5,000,000 Lorain-Huron high level bridge project for which Cleveland citizens had voted the bonds and on which work was to be started at once, has received a

Just 20 Seconds a Day and a Milk Scale

It just takes 10 seconds to hang a milk bucket on a scale, record the weight and pour the milk into the can. Twice a day means 20 seconds a day for each cow.

Don't you think that is mighty little effort to use in checking up and finding out whether or not those cows are paying you a profit?

Lots of dairymen who never gave the matter any thought or never actually figured their cost of grain feed per pound of milk are beginning to do so now. The man who is taking chances on profits or failure in the dairy business is the one that does not know what his cows are doing.

We will be glad to tell you how you can make a very profitable test on your cows with Cow Chow and how you can obtain a milk scale at manufacturer's cost and free milk record sheets. Just write, call or phone us.

setback in state supreme court. The suit was filed by Edward Bushnell of Cleveland following the refusal of Prosecuting Attorney Edward Stanton to bring suit to enjoin the bond issue. Bushnell alleging that the proposed bridge would not be on a county highway as the law requires, that the commissioners of Cuyahoga county had no authority to purchase land and that the bridge could not be constructed within the limits of the bond issue authorized. Common pleas court issued an injunction to Bushnell, which was dissolved by the court of appeals, but the lower court is sustained by the supreme court, which holds that unless the commissioners first establish a county road on the proposed site the project can not go forward.

The decision does not invalidate the bond issue, however, and it is held that part of the proceeds of the issue may be used to purchase right-of-way for the required roadway.

C. H. Allen, president of the Farmers' Sugar company of Defiance, holds that home production of sugar, by utilizing the millions of acres available for beet raising in America, is the only solution to the problem of how to reduce the high price of sugar. Suit brought by the government against New York refineries will be of no avail, in Allen's opinion. Ohio could raise as much sugar in the southwestern part of the state as the whole country produces, but the annual Ohio output is only enough for a 30-day supply for the state, he said. The clutch of foreign sugar holders, which forces up the price, can only be broken when the American product is placed on the market next fall, Allen added, asserting that last year's American supply was all used up by February, when the foreign holders showed up the prices.

W. F. McNamara of Columbus charges that the recent examination held by the state civil service commission for the position of secretary of the Ohio commission for the blind was "unjust, unfair and not held as contemplated by the laws of Ohio." He filed a request with the commission asking that the examination be set aside and another called. His request was denied. Margaret B. McNamara, wife of Mr. McNamara, was one of those who failed in the examination. Mr. McNamara charged that examiners of the commission did not spend the same length of time with the various candidates in the oral tests; that the oral examination was incomplete; that the same questions were not asked each applicant, and that for those who did not use typewriters the noise of the machines used by others was such as to cause annoyance and disturb their thoughts.

Coal producers of the southern part of Ohio launched a fight before the interstate commerce commission, in an effort to obtain a readjustment of freight rates, which they hold unequal and as endangering the industry, making it impossible, they say, for southern Ohio operators to compete with operators of southern Illinois.

W. D. McKinney, secretary of the Southern Ohio Coal exchange, said that under the prevailing rates, southern Illinois producers have a 46-cent advantage. Freight charges for Ohio total $3.98 a ton, while those from southern Illinois are $3.47. Railroads in all parts of the country are adding equipment as rapidly as possible and producers of Ohio feel that a favorable summer is in sight.

According to coal men, the condition against which Ohio operators are protesting was created shortly after April, 1917, when rates placed producers of the two districts upon practically an even footing, total freight rates for Ohio having been only 2 1/2 cents in excess of those from southern Illinois. Total rates from Ohio have advanced 102 per cent in that period of time, operators declare, whereas the rates from Illinois have been increased but 51 per cent. One of the greatest deterrents to traffic of the northwest, it was said, is the existence of ice floes in the upper lakes, but this is expected to be overcome in a short time.

Announcement was made by the Hocking Valley railroad, which has been operating only one of the two loading machines at the Toledo docks, to the effect that the second machine will be placed in operation during the week. During April the Hocking Valley loaded 117,000 tons of coal into vessels at the docks, a decrease of 40 per cent compared with last year.

A program for a statewide campaign on community organization during the spring of 1924 will be presented to the assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches when it meets in Columbus on June 5 and 6. This plan will be brought to the attention of the assembly by one of five representatives of national denominations and experts in social activities who have enlisted in this work. They are Samuel Zane Batten of the Baptist church; Arthur E. Holt, Congregational church; Charles N. Lathrop, Episcopal church; Alva W. Taylor, Disciple church; and Worthy M. Tippy of the Federal Council of Churches. The plan is to add other men from other denominations to this list as well as to secure experts in rural and city organization work. Influential men who are apostles of Christian principles to industry and labor will be invited to take part in the conferences in the cities.

20,000 FIRES ROB NATION OF GREAT AREA OF TIMBER

Ten Million Dollars Worth Of Timber Destroyed In Last Month.

Washington, May 4.—Twenty thousand forest fires, which raged across a score of states, destroyed $10,000,000 worth of standing timber in the past month, it was announced by Sen. McNary, Republican of Oregon, chairman of the senate reforestation committee.

McNary declared government reports showed all the fires were caused by human carelessness. In many communities, he said, the destruction of forests would have a serious effect on water supplies during the coming summer.

As a result of the wide-spread fire ravages this spring, McNary announced he would ask the next congress to appropriate $1,500,000 as a special fund to provide federal forest patrols. The present appropriation is only $400,000.

The senate committee will make an immediate inspection tour of forest conditions in the middle west to view some of the forest fire losses at first hand. The committee will leave Washington next Sunday for a six-day trip, visiting Detroit on May 7; Bay City, Mich., May 8; Grand Rapids May 9; Chicago and vicinity May 10; Madison, Wis., May 11; Duluth May 12 and Cluquot, Minn., May 12.

"The continued losses of our forests by carelessness will result ultimately in the government spending large sums for forest patrols," McNary said. "With timber selling at $20 per thousand feet, it is an urgent necessity to do something to conserve forest resources."

"This money, however, will all be spent in assisting states to patrol their own forests. It is absolutely necessary that the state governments take a real interest in this problem," McNary said. Besides Pennsylvania, other states where great losses occurred were New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia.

Berg Will Address Butler Farm Bureau

County Commissioner Conrad Berg will be one of the speakers at the May meeting of the Butler Township Farm Bureau, which will be held Wednesday at the New Middleton school house, at the center of the township. He will speak on "Good Roads." A. U. Patton, of the horticulture committee, will speak on horticultural subjects.

TIERED NERVOUS MOTHERS are the direct cause of much unhappiness in our homes, their condition irritates and wears upon the husband and often ruins a child's disposition. This condition of the mother is often due to some weakness which makes her entirely unfit to perform her household duties and bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves. Every woman who finds herself in this condition should remember that statistics prove that 98 out of every 100 women who suffer from female ills are helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and lose no time in giving it a fair trial.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT OUR SERVICE

Take the Discount On Your Light Bills

Every few cents saved means that your electric light costs just that much less. When your bill comes in, mark down a date for payment at least two days before discount elapses. This is the safest plan. Something might happen to prevent your coming into the office on the last day or the mail bearing your check might be delayed.

We allow ten days for taking the discount—ten days from date bill is mailed to you. Your bill should be received about the same time each month. Your meter is read about the same time each month.

If your bill is delayed, and you do not get the full ten days' discount period, it may be incorrectly addressed. Examine the bill and make sure we have your name and street number correct on our books.

On all matters pertaining to bills and discounts, you will receive prompt information by telephoning 48.

MINOR LEAGUERS FAIL TO STAR IN BIG LEAGUE GAMES

High Prices Paid For Many Young Players Bring Few Results.

New York, May 4.—It may be a bit early for morning glories, the present season being a particularly backward one, but there are indications that the human crop in the major leagues, at least, is not only expensive but large. Perhaps after all, this will be the last year of extravagant minor league promises, as John McGraw and other smart baseball men are prone to believe.

McGraw most certainly will not be a party to an orgy of spending unless Jill O'Connell and Jack Bentley soon begin to resemble major league ball players, something they have contrived to avoid since the opening of the season. Bentley, who is said to have cost $65,000, has failed to last five innings in two starts and either Stengel or Cunningham is destined to replace the $75,000 O'Connell, unless he starts to hit, pronto.

These cases are typical of the star minor leaguers' performances, with a few isolated exceptions. Tris Speaker went into Rhapsodies over Walter Lutzke, his $39,000 third baseman. Lutzke isn't hitting and doesn't look as though he will. Myatt, the $50,000 catcher, hasn't made Speaker forget that Steve O'Neil is a member of the ball club.

The Phils claimed they paid $40,000 for Heine Sand, but to date he has played like a school boy. He kicks one or two of them around nearly every day, generally in the pinches. Sam Hale, the alleged $75,000 third baseman of the Athletics, hasn't had a chance to show, owing to injuries, but Boehler and Kunz, high-priced Pirate pitchers, have faced plenty of opportunities and yielded many base hits.

Some Make Good
Willie Kamm, the most costly of the lot, has done well enough for the White Sox and probably will do better. His hitting hasn't been impressive but Kamm is expected to live that down. He looks the part of a hitter. So does O'Connell and as a matter of fact, Bentley looks like a pitcher. He got a very late start in the south and may come along subsequently.

However, the rank fallacy of paying good money for bad ball players is apparent when the list of those who have come up in the last ten years to make good, without ballyhoo or price tag, is considered. The list, while a lengthy one, by no means is conclusive.

However, these few examples will serve as apt illustrations:

Frisch, Young, Bancroft, Kelly and Emil Muesel, Giants; Rogers, Hornsby, Cardinals; Ponessa and Pincetti, Cincinnati; Grimm, Higbee and Schmitt, Pirates; Carl Walker and Heinie Phillips; Ford, Braves; Holocher, Cubs; Sewell and Jamieson, Indians; Siler and Ken Williams, Browns; Ward, Bob Muesel and Dugan, Yankees; Pillette, Rigney and Bassler, Tigers; Galloway, Rummel and Perkins, Athletics; Falk, Mostil and the banished Dick Kerr, White Sox.
